Small Awaiting Visit By Sheriff

Governor of Illinois Returns to Springfield After "Inspection" Trip.

NEXT MOVE UP TO SHERIFF

County Officer Expects Indicted Governor to Surrender and Give Bond.

By United Press Leased Wire Springfield, Ill.—The indicted governor of Illinois arrived at the state capital Monday.

Governor Len Small, charged with juggling millions in state funds while serving as state treasurer, came by auto from his home in Kankakee to Sangamon county where Sheriff Meier has warrants for his arrest.

Small has been away from the executive offices for nearly two weeks. He left when Judge Elbert Smith ruled the governor was not above the law. Since that time, Small has been touring the state roads with his "capital on wheels."

The governor was accompanied by his son, Leslie Small, his son-in-law Captain A. E. Ingles and Judge C. H. Jenkins, director of the department of public welfare.

Secrecy apparently was thrown about the governor's movements to forestall any attempt of Sheriff Meier to arrest him on his way from the executive mansion to his office in the capitol building.

Trick Is Feared

"I expect Governor Small to walk in and give bond today," the sheriff said. "I won't make any attempt to rush him and will give him plenty of time to prepare. However, if the state executive remains here until Friday you may take it for granted the warrants will be served. How, I have not decided."

The sheriff said he would seek an appointment if the state executive does not appear personally Monday.

The belief prevails about the sheriff's and state's attorney's office that Small's lawyers have something up their sleeve to pull on the sheriff when the warrants are served.

Gov. Small arrived at the executive offices at 11:30 o'clock and a few minutes later gave out a long list of appointments.

He refused to see newspapermen saying he was transacting the business of the state and had no statement to make.

Those close to the governor declared the next move is up to the sheriff.

"The governor is here," they said. "The sheriff certainly does not expect the governor to go to the court house and get the warrants out of the safe and beg the sheriff to serve them."

PARDON CONVICT TRIES TO FLEECE CAR COMPANY

By United Press Leased Wire Milwaukee—Elmer Mudway was taken into custody by the police Monday charged with fleeing the local traction company out of $750 for alleged personal injuries received while a passenger on a street car.

He is formally charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Mudway worked the alleged personal injury fraud the day after he had been pardoned from prison on January 2, of this year. He said at the time he was hurt in a head-on collision of street cars.

The company settled with the injured man for $750. Later agents of the company received information that Mudway sustained no injuries and the investigation led to his arrest today.

Wilson Feels Vindicated By Harding Call

By United Press Leased Wire Washington, D. C.—Woodrow Wilson hopes President Harding's disavowal of the Versailles conference succeeds.

Friends of Wilson declare that he feels himself vindicated in the Harding call for an international conference. It proves to the Wilson mind, they said, that the world's need for mutual action has been forced upon the present administration.

The former president, however, will make no pronouncement on the foreign policies of the Harding government while the United States is involved in the delicate and international negotiations.

Wilson expects to remain in his street home here during the conference. His friends say that the former president is in better health now than at any time since he left the White House.

Few days go by on which some Democratic leader does not drop in at the red brick house and come out with a new point on some political subject of the moment.

G. O. P. Solon Assails Party And President

By United Press Leased Wire Washington, D. C.—Representative Keller, Minnesota, Republican, Monday scathingly denounced the work of his party after being in power five months.

The president has assumed more power than any of his predecessors, and tells congress what bills to pass—and what not to pass, Keller said.

"Bills concocted in secret conference are introduced without being referred to responsible committees. The machinery of government has been commandeered by a little clique, ignorant of the A.B.C.'s of economics, whose blind obedience to Wall street is responsible for the stupid, selfish and shortsighted policy that is retarding our prosperity and creating profound distrust and discontent among the people."

LENIN APPEALS TO WORKERS OF WORLD

Bolshevik Admits Famine But Says Soviet Government Will Weather Storm.

By United Press Leased Wire Riga, Nikolai Lenin, bolshevik premier Monday issued an appeal for help to the "international proletariat."

The appeal inferentially denied that the Russian famine could result in the downfall of the soviets.

"The Russian workmen and peasants feel instinctively," he said, "the necessity of supporting the socialist republic which was the first to take up the gigantic task against capitalism."

Lenin's statement admitted the famine had made headway and declared that in several provinces it was doing more damage than the great famine of 1891.

"The famine is the terrible consequence of a retarded culture," he said, "resulting from seven years of imperialism and civil war imposed on the workers and peasants by owners and capitalists of the entire world."

"The soviets expected help from workmen and small cultivators. We are hoping they will respond to our appeal despite their own hardships."

"Those who have felt the life long capitalist yoke will understand the situation."

WOMAN SUES JUDGE ON SLANDER CHARGE

By United Press Leased Wire Richmond Center—Miss Ada James has commenced suit against Judge Levi H. Bancroft for $10,000 for alleged slander.

According to Miss James, Judge Bancroft charged in a July fourth speech at Muscoda that she forged her father's name to his will.

The suit is an aftermath to litigation following the defeat of Judge Bancroft for reelection by Judge Sherman E. Smalley. Judge Smalley was instrumental in having Judge Bancroft prosecuted under the state corrupt practices act.

The judge was acquitted on the ground the campaign literature sent out had not been approved or distributed by his knowledge. Miss James was involved in this case as a material witness.

CHINA ACCEPTS NOV. 11 AS DATE FOR CONFERENCE

By United Press Leased Wire Washington.—The state department Monday received a communication from China accepting the American proposal of November 11, as the date for the opening of the Washington disarmament and Pacific conference.

Replies to this proposal were awaited Monday by Secretary of State Hughes from Japan and Italy, all the other powers having officially accepted.

BANDIT TAKES $10,000 FROM BANK MESSENGER

By United Press Leased Wire Chicago, Ill.—A lone bandit held up Leonard Murray, bank messenger, on a crowded downtown street late Monday and escaped with a satchel containing $10,000 in cash.

The robbery occurred in front of the Board of Trade building. Just after the board closed and when many members were leaving.

AXE SLAYED GIVES UP AS HUNT STARTS

Wausau—Joseph Hogel, wanted here in connection with the slaying of Jack Ryan, 22 with an axe Sunday as the climax of a fist fight, surrendered early Monday morning to the sheriff at Merrill, Wis.

He was returned here at noon by Sheriff Fred Schroeder to face the charge of first degree murder.

Word that Hogel had surrendered reached Sheriff Schroeder just as he was embarking at the head of a posse for the woods near Texas, a village 12 miles north of here, in search of the alleged slayer. Hogel was hiding in the woods when a friend came upon him. The friend persuaded Hogel his best course was to walk to Merrill and surrender. Hogel agreed and the two set out reaching Merrill in the middle of the night.

It was reported Hogel may be tried in Lincoln county on the murder charge.

SEEK MORE VICTIMS OF "POISON PLOT"

Chicago, Ill.—Chemists Monday examined another exhumed body—that of Mrs. Lena Kolze—to determine if she was the fourth victim of the Schiller Park prison mystery.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kolze and John Demmer, it has been found, all died as the result of arsenic poison. Mrs. Demmer, who was held by authorities, is now out on bonds and will be given a further hearing tomorrow.

Mrs. Lena Kolze is Fred Kolze's mother. Following the deaths of Mrs. Fred Kolze and John Demmer, eight years ago, Kolze and Demmer continued to occupy the same house, Mrs. Demmer acting as housekeeper.

According to State Attorney McShane, Mrs. Demmer blames the dead Kolze for the deaths.

Mrs. Elizabeth Narwood, mother of Mrs. Kolze, told authorities that Mrs. Demmer hinted to her that she knew about the deaths.

Unanimity Of Opinion By World Powers Needed For Conference Success

Decisions at Disarmament Conference Will Not Be Reached by Voting—Canadians Feel Slighted Because They Have Not Been Invited to Attend.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington.—Canadian editorial reaching the Washington government indicates a misapprehension as to the character of the disarmament conference as it affects the British dominions. The impression seems to exist that there will be votes at the conference and some writers wonder why the United States didn't issue a special invitation to Canada.

Those in authority here say there will be no voting at the disarmament conference. Decisions will not be reached by the way. Each power represented will have an opportunity to express its views but nothing will be considered final until a unanimous agreement has been reached. If there is division of opinion, there will be the usual attempts to compromise but unless everybody agrees to the propositions in the end, the conference will have failed of its main purpose.

The peace conference at Paris was conducted the same way—each power had a sovereign right to disagree and refuse to accept any part of the treaty but when it was finally signed it represented the unanimous judgment of all the nations.

Not Separate Nations

The idea of votes at the November conference on disarmament seems to be an outgrowth of the controversy over the alleged six votes of the British empire in the League of Nations to one on the part of the United States. The League of Nations recognized the British dominions as separate nations but the United States always regarded the various parts of the British empire as being grouped in a single vote.

Somewhat the same attitude is to be adopted here at the disarmament conference. The Washington government will not issue special invitations to the various nations in the British empire but will deal directly with the British government. If the latter has in its delegation representatives of the British dominions, that, of course, is something to be hoped for in order that the problems affecting Canada, New Zealand and Australia in the Pacific may be better understood, but in the end the signature of Great Britain alone will be sought as the United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with the various states of the British empire.

Even if the British delegation doesn't include representatives of the British dominions, the conference will from time to time hear arguments from any of the British states whose position might be affected. Thus the Canadian premier was often given an audience at the Paris peace negotiations and was in frequent conference with President Wilson and the head of other governments when matters vital to Canada were being considered. But consultation with Canada or Australia or other British dominion representatives will be along the same line as conferences with Holland or Belgium or other countries which have asked for an opportunity to be present when matters affecting them are discussed.

Must Be Agreed

Secretary Hughes emphasizes the fact that the powers invited to the conference are sovereign nations and that any agreements made by them must be unanimous. In making the agenda or program for the conference the same rules will be followed. Incidentally the United States probably will seek opinion from other powers as to the questions that should be included in the agenda and will make some suggestions of her own. There is every expectation that the agenda must be completed by exchange of

MORGAN TO FIGHT TO SAVE RUM LAW

By United Press Leased Wire Madison, Wis.—Attorney General William J. Morgan will defend all action against the Sevenson prohibition law and suits for damages against prohibition agents for enforcing the law, according to an agreement reached today following a conference between the attorney general and Gov. John J. Blaine.

The attorney general will appear for the state Tuesday in Milwaukee in a suit brought by August Silber, saloon-keeper, against State Dry Agents Bloodgood and Henning. The saloon-keeper is seeking $10,000 damages because dry officers broke open a drawer containing his personal effects, he charged.

The injunction suit brought by Hugo Alby, Milwaukee, for the Camels restraining the commissioner from enforcing the removal of saloon bars, will be fought by the attorney general here on August 16 before the Dane county circuit court.

HUNDRED LOSE HOMES IN FIRES IN FOREST

St. John, N. B.—More than one hundred persons were made homeless by a forest fire which swept down the St. John river valley yesterday and today.

Summer camps and farmsteads were wiped out. The loss counting timber destruction, was estimated at more than $600,000. At least sixty-five homes were destroyed.

Occupants of the houses escaped from the rapidly moving flames were car of for in St. John. One family escaped in a canoe, the flames from the fire behind them lighting their way for miles.

LLOYD GEORGE MAY NOT ATTEND WORLD MEETING

Paris—Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain will not attend the Washington disarmament conference despite a widely circulated announcement Monday that he would not do so.

The statement that he would not attend the conference aroused keen interest here and in England where it was called immediately.

Shortly before 3 p. m. the premier's secretary issued a formal statement denying the first announcement. No further details were made public.

SUGGEST ADVERTISING TAX TO RAISE MONEY

Washington—A tax on newspaper, magazine and billboard advertising has been suggested by some members of the ways and means committee during their consideration of the tax revision bill, it was learned Monday.

A request has gone to the treasury department for the yield of such a tax. Suggestions also have been made that the postal rates on second class matter be increased, because of an estimated deficit of $70,000,000 in the postoffice department during the present year.

MILLIONS LOST WHEN IDLE MEN ENGAGE IN RIOT

Six Thousand Unemployed Britishers Fight When They Are Refused Jobs.

ONLY 50 MEN GIVEN WORK

More Than 500 Mounted Policemen Fight Pushing Mob of Thousands.

By United Press Leased Wire London.—One of the most serious unemployment riots of the year resulted in wholesale fights and the destruction of $5,000,000 worth of property here Monday.

More than 6,000 unemployed men engaged in the riot. More than 500 mounted policemen fought the mob back.

The demonstration occurred at the Gilkstein lumber yard, the largest in England, when the 6,000 men applied for fifty vacancies.

Thousands of applicants for the fifty jobs were waiting at the gates long before they were opened.

The fifty successful men were picked quickly and the others were shut out.

Murmurs of disgust and protest arose from the mob as it was shut out. Small police forces were unable to break up the gathering which became louder and began shoving back and forth.

Small fights started in the crowd and the mob's anger arose.

SENATE WETS PLAN FIGHT IN COURTS

By United Press Leased Wire Washington, D. C.—Congress constitutional right to go the limit in banning beer will be tested in the courts if the Willis Campbell anti-medical beer bill becomes law, senate "wets" announced Monday.

Senator Sterling this week planned to swing all his support behind an effort to force a final vote on the measure.

The wets refused to concede Sterling's ability to rout them, a canvass of the senate showed that if the bill is allowed to come to a vote it will pass easily. The wets Monday claimed that they had gained a number of votes over the weekend.

BADGERS HONORED AT CHICAGO'S PAGEANT

By United Press Leased Wire Chicago.—Governor James J. Blaine of Wisconsin headed the Badger state visitors who attended Wisconsin day at the Pageant of Progress here Monday.

Governor Blaine took full control over the pageant after his cavalcade of Wisconsin motorists had been welcomed by Mayor Thompson. Early in the afternoon the visitors paraded through the loop to the municipal pier where the pageant is in progress.

No aerial exhibitions were scheduled today because of the death of Sergeant Pat Love, who was killed Sunday while making a parachute drop at the pier.

A special program in honor of the Wisconsin governor and his party will be given tonight.

Grill Slain Man's Friend To Find Motive For Crime

Los Angeles, Calif.—Arthur Courtney Burch was grilled Monday in connection with the murder of the wealthy J. Bolton Kennedy.

Burch, son of a retired Evanston, Ill., minister and friend of Mrs. Madalyn Obenchain, who was with Kennedy when he shot from ambush in front of his cottage Saturday night, was brought here handcuffed from Las Vegas, Nev., where he was taken from an east bound train Saturday.

Authorities continued to question Mrs. Obenchain, former Northwestern university beauty and former wife Ralph Obenchain, Chicago attorney. She is held as a material witness.

Police said today they have a strong circumstantial case against Burch, although they have not established a motive. Burch, the son of Rev. and Mrs. William A. Burch of Evanston, and former son-in-law of Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Louis, was an intimate friend of both Mrs. Obenchain and Kennedy.

After his arrest at Las Vegas, Burch readily agreed to waive extradition and return to Los Angeles.

"Be very careful. You are being watched."

(Signed) A Friend.

Former Husband to Help

Chicago, Ill.—"I'm awaiting Madalyn's call. If she says she wants me, or it appears at any time there is anything I can do to help her, I will take the next train for Los Angeles."

Thus Attorney Ralph B. Obenchain, said Monday he was "standing by" ready at a moment's notice to speed to the side of his former wife, Madalyn Obenchain, held at Los Angeles as "material witness" in the murder of John B. Kennedy.

Obenchain said he would already be on his way to Los Angeles were he not afraid of "causing complications that might prove embarrassing" to the Northwestern college beauty who divorced him so that she might be free to marry Kennedy.

HARVEY MAY BE MEANS OF KEEPING PEACE IN EUROPE

France and Britain Far Apart as Supreme Council Meeting Opens.

By United Press Leased Wire Paris.—The future of the ontente was believed at stake Monday when the allied supreme council met in the most important session since the war.

The meeting found France and Great Britain diametrically opposed on nearly every question to come up.

The session was notable also in that Colonel George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, was to sit with the council, renewing American participation. Although he was to act as an "observer" it was hoped that he would be the mediator in the disputes between Great Britain and France. Italy and Japan figured in the session as possible arbiters also.

A decision on division of upper Silesia between Germany and Poland was the big matter before the council. The points of disagreement were: France desires to send immediate reinforcements to the allied troops in Silesia. France wants them to go to Poland.

Britain favors abolition of the Rhine customs barrier. France opposes that on the grounds that Germany has not met the allied ultimatum regarding the punishment of war criminals.

The council went into session at the Quai D'Orsay where so many of the alleged post-war decisions were made.

Besides Colonel Harvey another new figure in the council was Premier Bonomi of Italy.

According to his history to the corner Willie told Booneville Wednesday, July 27, arriving at Tennyson that night. The next day he returned home.

"Willie," the corner said, "told me his mother fussed at him all day for having come home. He said she told him he should have stayed in Booneville and hunted for a job."

Friday morning, he said, his mother or wanted him to accompany her to a neighbors to get some tobacco. Willie told her he would take the gun along and they would go through the woods where he would try to get a squirrel. The remainder of Willie's story was substantially as follows:

"While we were walking through the wood, I bumped the gun against a tree accidentally, exploding it. The charge struck mother. She fell to the ground and cried 'Oh.'"

"She turned over on her face and I didn't want to see her suffer so I shot her again."

"This didn't kill her so I held the gun six feet from her head and fired a third time."

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT FUNERAL OF MAJ. TRIER

By United Press Leased Wire Fond du Lac, Wis.—The most impressive military ceremonies ever witnessed in Fond du Lac attended the burial Monday of Major Adolph M. Trier, Fond du Lac's highest ranking officer to lose his life in the world war.

As the funeral cortege left St. Patrick church all church and fire bells of the city were tolled.

Delegations of military officers who served with Major Trier abroad, from Oshkosh, Appleton, Neenah and other points, took part in the funeral. Major E. T. Markle, Captain T. A. Wat-son, Captain Henry Vogt, Captain J. G. Brunkhorst, Captain Jno. E. Smith, and Lieut. Leo Longtin acted as pallbearers. Color bearers, buglers, and the firing squad at the grave in Calvary cemetery were selected from boys who served under Major Trier. The loyal legion was in charge of the funeral.

As the lifeboats swung out over the side of the careening ship, scenes of incompetence and disorder were reported.

John R. Clarke of Escalon, said two of the lifeboats on the portside of the vessel plunged end long into the water, passengers being dumped into the ocean. Another boat was reported hanging by one end at a perilous angle, when a heavy wave crushed it against the side of the vessel. Most of those who perished were in these boats.

Women and children, according to the code of the sea, were given preference in the boats. But there was insufficient room for all.

Investigation Is Started to Determine Cause of Wreck Which Imperiled Lives of More Than 100 Passengers—Captain Goes Down With Vessel

Eureka, Calif.—Forty-five persons were believed dead in the Alaska ship disaster today, according to latest estimates.

Seventeen bodies are in Humboldt county morgue and 28 are missing according to the last list made public by steamship officials.

Little hope is held out for the 28 reported missing as it is feared the sea swallowed up their bodies shortly after the Alaska struck a reef Saturday night.

Although the coast has been constantly patrolled, no additional bodies have been found.

Official investigation into the wreck was started today. The point where the Alaska lies, inside of Blunt's reef lightship should have been missed by miles by the vessel, had it been

ANOTHER MEETING OF C. O. F. TO FIX INSURANCE RATES

Big Fraternal Order to Be Placed on 100 Per Cent
Solvency Basis.

Adjustment of insurance rates will be left to a special convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters at Chicago in Aug., 1922 and will include a wider range of policies, according to Gustave Keller, who with Mrs. Keller returned Saturday evening from a week's attendance at the international convention of the order in Milwaukee. Mr. Keller's reelection as grand high treasurer was unanimous. He will serve another three years until the next regular international convention in Columbus, Ohio, in 1924.

Raising insurance rates to make them adequate for the future was one of the biggest problems of the convention. No action was taken because the delegates are to be given opportunity to present the matter to their local courts, to discuss the details thoroughly and then return to the special convention to reach a decision.

Policies on a 20-payment life plan, or others that will be paid up at the ages of 50, 60 or 70 years will be adopted in addition to the present whole life contract. Old age and total disability benefits also are to be included. Insurance may be taken in amounts from $500 to $5,000 instead of the old limitations of $500, $1,000, $1,500 and $2,000.

This matter was pressed because insurance departments of various states are insisting that fraternal orders place their affairs on a 100-per cent solvency basis, rendering them capable of meeting all future policy payments without depending too much on acquisition of new members. Canada has passed a law requiring all companies doing business in that country to place their companies on the 100-per cent basis by 1925.

The Forester organization is not on a 100-per cent basis now, but the aim is to adjust the rates to make it so. The plan adopted will be one that will place the order on a permanent financial basis for all time to come. Wisconsin was given one more high court trustee when the number was increased from eight to ten. He is Henry T. Attermeier, Milwaukee.

The skat tournament at Elk club Monday evening will be open to all players of Appleton and surrounding country. Prizes will be awarded.

WINNINGER PLAY PLEASING TO MANY

"Smilin' Through" Is Presented to Large Audience
Sunday.

"Smilin' Through," Allan Martins' noted drama, was played to a house packed to standing room Sunday afternoon and evening in Appleton theatre by John D. Winninger players.

An able and well balanced cast supports Mr. Winninger in the season's repertoire.

Mr. Winninger in the role of Dr. Owen Harding was the favorite. Miss Dorothy Russell in her leading part as Kathleen Dugannon was a lovely character. Irish wit couched in Irish brought the means of relieving the emotional strain. J. G. McFarland as John Carteret was an accomplished player in a difficult role.

The play centers around a love affair between Kathleen Dugannon, and Kenneth Wayne whose father killed the sweetheart of Carteret on the wedding day out of jealousy. Carrying his grudge for fifty years Carteret finally is forced to yield to the persistence of love and withdraw his hatred of the murderer's son.

Scenes in which Carteret's dead bride appears in the moonlight lent impressiveness to the drama.

Obrecht Sisters Ladies orchestra accompanies the troupe and augments the program with its musical numbers. The Winninger players will return here in September.

Mr. Sinnenn now is in Chicago buying equipment for the plant.

It was decided to add the binding and ruling department when it was learned that nearly all of that class of business from Fond du Lac and adjacent territory was sent to Milwaukee.

HEALTH NURSE LEAVES FOR REST AT KILBOURN

After three months' successful work in conducting classes in Outagamie-co. in connection with the health center movement, Miss Katharine McKinley has gone to Kilbourn where she will spend a few weeks in rest and recreation at the Dells before resuming her duties in some other locality.

Miss McKinley was sent to Appleton in the spring by Red Cross headquarters at Washington, D. C. Before coming here she conducted classes in home sanitation and hygiene in New York city and Springfield, Ill. Her friend, Miss Lee Loty of Chicago, who has been visiting here the last few days, accompanied her to Kilbourn.

WAS NOT EATING ONE MEAL A DAY

Could Hardly Work a Day a Week, But
Childs Is a Well Man Since
Taking Tanlac

"I wasn't averaging a day a week at my work when I started on Tanlac but there isn't a man working for me who can do as big a day's work as I do and I am on the job every minute," said Charles Childs, 724 Thirty-fourth St., Milwaukee, Wis., a well-known and successful contracting carpenter.

"I wasn't averaging one meal a day, either, and some days I didn't eat at all as nothing agreed with me. My stomach was in such bad shape I couldn't even drink a cup of coffee without having awful pains in my chest afterwards. My kidneys bothered me a good deal, too, and I was so nervous I couldn't sit still a minute. Tanlac has straightened out all my troubles and I feel like a new man now. I eat three hearty meals every day and sometimes a snack between meals.

"When it comes to building a man up and making him feel fine Tanlac is in a class by itself. It certainly treated me to one of the biggest and happiest surprises of my life for I didn't think it was possible for a medicine to do half what did for me." adv.

Pedagogue to 200 Tons of Elephants

How would you like to chaperone two-thirds of all the elephants in America?

George Denman, veteran pachyderm specialist, had that job "wished" on him when the biggest and best features of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circuses were merged into one institution. He is probably the only living man who could handle this gigantic task. Given the pick of the world's foremost elephant trainers, Denman organized six great herds and trained each to execute tricks never before performed in a circus tent. Thus accomplished, he put all six herds into one mammoth ensemble and taught them to "pyramid" in unison! The management has termed this achievement a "quarter of a million pound act." It is said to surpass anything ever accomplished in animal subjugation.

One might naturally picture Denman as a man of immense stature. On the contrary, he is hardly of medium height, and almost reticent in disposition and a man of very few words. When he talks there is usually what he says. One day someone asked him how he liked his job.

"Oh, all right," he answered. "Only it's a good thing that that tent full of elephants ain't birds. Whv? Because it's a well known fact that a bird will eat its weight in food every day."

It is said that the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey elephant acts is an index by which the scope of all its departments may be measured. The arena program consumes almost three hours and introduces hundreds of acts. The menagerie is the most remarkable ever exhibited. All the many features are to be exhibited here Wednesday, August 17.

Merchants Putting In Big Stocks For Holiday Buying

Confidence in Revival of Business Is Indicated in Christmas Preparations.

While Appleton residents are experiencing something of the "comforts" of summer in the tropics, buyers from the big stores have projected themselves through their imaginative powers into the middle of bleak, icicle bound December, the better to select their Christmas stock of artificial snow and icicles for the trimming of the Christmas tree.

"We are buying as big a stock as ever," said H. L. Post of the Pettibone-Peabody Co., in anticipation of the biggest Christmas trade we have ever had. We have confidence in the people and are making preparations for a big season.

Mr. Post said that they were buying toys in domestic and foreign markets in great quantities for the annual Christmas "toyland." While the company makes a specialty of the toy department during the holiday season, a toy business on a smaller scale is maintained during the entire year. Years ago people bought toys only at Christmas time and the merchants packed the stock away after the holidays, not to be displayed for another year. Times have changed however, and toys have become more practical.

Parents who are hopping purchase toys for the kiddies rather than a bag of candy as formerly. Toys have become educational and are designed to teach the children something, rather than to simply amuse them.

"Our Christmas slogan is 'useful practical gifts'," said Chris Mullen of the Geenen Dry Goods Co. "Furs, silk hose, ivory toilet articles and silk underwear are leading holiday sellers."

Time to Reduce People's Forum

Editor, Post-Crescent—I would like to ask the merchants of Appleton how they expect the working men of this city to make ends meet if they don't reduce the cost of living.

Since the first of February the mills have cut wages 21 cents an hour. Have the retailers cut their prices as fast as that? No.

When the wages were being raised the price of food stuffs were right behind but now all the cutting falls on the working men.

Why doesn't the landlord cut the rent as fast as he raised it. How do they expect the men who are getting from $2.75 to $3.50 a day to pay $25 to $45 a month house rent? Better start cutting a little Mr. Merchant and Landlord. Don't forget you can ride a good horse to death.

"I became so worn out and weak it was an effort for me to do my housework. It was my son-in-law who got me to try Kozak. It really made a new woman out of me. Besides a keen appetite, it promoted the digestion of my food and created new energy and vigor. I no longer suffer from that heavy, bloated feeling after meals. ## Gas Tractors For Steamers Off Farm Stage

Threshing nowadays usually is accompanied by the familiar column of black smoke that winds upward from the yard where straw is flying and men are straining to keep up with noisy separator. The oldtime steam engine has given way to the gasoline tractor.

Gasoline engines are found to be a means of greater efficiency and time saving. It formerly was necessary to drive to town to buy soft coal. The fuel and water had to be moved from the farm to the outfit. Now the gasoline or kerosene tractor is used, carrying a supply of fuel in its tank for several days. It is not necessary for one of the hands to get up an hour earlier to fire up and generate steam.

Some farmers say steam engines are preferable because the thrasher runs with greater uniformity, but high powered gasoline outfits are said to overcome this difficulty besides eliminating other inconveniences. A few steamers still are in use, but it is believed they soon will be relics of the past.

RIGID ECONOMY THE DECLARED POLICY

The simple, sane and sure way to achieve economy is to halt extravagance. This is the idea which has, at last, seemed to impress congress with its popular force, judging by the authenticated statements emanating from Washington. Instead of considering how much money it might raise through taxation, congress is now trying to estimate how little it will actually need. Scarcely two weeks ago alert politicians surmised that they were acceding to the demands of their constituents by promising fat, special appropriations for a score of theoretical and wasteful undertakings. Committees and delegations were urging them to dole out money with free hands for movements, causes, interests, experiments, propaganda and what-nots. Attentive politicians inferred that all this agitation typified public opinion and signified the will of the people.

Congress seems to have come to its senses. It has begun to realize that the public wants taxation to be easy, that the masses are really opposed to concessions to special interests, that the voters regard appeals for government money and help with suspicion, and that there is such a decided difference of opinion concerning the tariff that this subject is no longer a political issue. President Harding has advised the house ways and means committee that he wishes to have expenditures and appropriations reduced to the pre-war levels, so that taxes may be decreased as much as possible. Members of the committee, among them Representative Longworth, have responded to the president's request by agreeing to cut down taxes to such an extent that the revenue would scarcely be sufficient to get along with it.

This policy exactly accords with the general expectations of the people. Whatever congress appropriates or gives away, whatever the government spends, is money collected from the public, and this the public understands by distasteful experience. And rigid economy is not only what the people desire, but it is what congress and the government need.

PASSAGE FOR TROOPS THROUGH GERMANY

To the demand of the ambassadors of England, France and Italy to the German Government, for permission for the movement of military troops across German soil into Upper Silesia, there is nothing novel or arbitrary. Similar predicaments occasionally happened in Europe during and after the Middle Ages. Edward III of England marched his armed forces from end to end of Europe into Spain, with the strictest order and discipline, and paid the merchants and people for food and supplies and finally compensated the several countries for encroachment and damages.

There are three attitudes which have been taken to such demands. Belgium exemplified one in its firm refusal to allow German soldiers to attempt to reach France over Belgian soil. In the case of Edward of England, the resistance was negative, as France, for instance, refused to grant the desired permission, yet made no attempt to stop the British adventurers. The other stand is full and specific consent.

Germany must, as a matter of judgment and diplomacy, readily, definitely and agreeably accede to the demand. In this case Germany could not assume or be charged with responsibility. And the object of England, France and Italy is to preserve the peace.

THE WRONG NAME

Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, who has been touring Russia for a month, may speak with more constraint when he returns to the United States, but his perfunctory indorsement of the soviet regime in his expressed observations is not calculated to gain confidence for his conclusions. He seems to be rather too much inclined to explain away the severity of the stern Russian rule and to pamper the soviet leaders and commissions with exaggerated flattery.

The senator induced the Russian government to release Mrs. Marguerite E. Harrison, a Baltimore woman, who had been in prison, with intermissions, for fifteen months. He characterized this action as magnanimous treatment.

A newspaper correspondent describes how the Senator had to break down, in turn, the opposition of Lenin, then Minister of Foreign Affairs, Tchitcherine, then of Western Minister Litvinoff, and then of the extraordinary commission of the inquisition, in order to gain freedom for her. There would be no objection to Senator France's thanking the Russian government for releasing her. But to describe the Russian government's action as magnanimous is decidedly far-fetched.

Irrespective of the matter of trading with Russia, information which has leaked from that country indicates unmistakably that the soviet government is a government of espionage, restriction, coercion and imposition. It is anything but a magnanimous government.

REALTORS URGED TO BUILD HOMES

Speakers at the annual convention of the National association of Real Estate boards warned realtors of the United States that the best, if not the only, precaution against the nationalization of residence financing was for them to build more small houses and sell them by waging own-your-own-home campaigns. Unless the realtors relieved the housing shortage in their cities, the speakers admonished, the government finally would be compelled to provide a fund to facilitate home building.

Whereas fairly encouraging results have followed judicious and vigorous own-your-home propaganda, most financiers and realtors will admit that they have not been all that they should be. The educational campaigns have induced thousands or hundreds of persons, in different cities, to show live interest in having homes of their own, but the number purchasing houses has been comparatively small. Housing associations, whose capital was furnished by business interests, were formed in many places in the past few years to stimulate home-ownership, but their success has, as a rule, been no more positive than that of regular building and loan societies, or real estate agencies.

Construction costs, extravagance due to exceptionally large earnings, and abnormal conditions, such as the migratoriness of labor, have militated against the building and purchasing of houses. Yet, the experience of realtors in normal times offers a strong reason for the inference that apathy as to owning a home is one of the most important obstacles which must be overcome. Renting is a habit, and the average head of a family must be educated to see the great advantage of owning a home. The educational exploitation must convince him that investors are inclined to put their money in apartments and flats, and that it is to the convenience and economy, as well as the pride of his family, to own a home.

The chief practical difficulty is that the initial payment for a house is too large for the average man, and if this payment is reduced much, the installments are excessive, in ratio to his surplus from income. Apparently, two measures are requisite to popularize and realize home ownership. One is propaganda to change the habit of tenancy into a desire and a pride to house the family with a residence of its own. The other is to minimize the initial payment and the installments by spreading the amortization over a longer term than is now customary, or to ease for the prospective owner the burden of the first payment by urging the purchase of the lot by installment. It is generally not the realtors who are to blame, but conditions and the tenant, for the indifference as to home ownership.

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS.

It was a custom of the Romans to paint a rose on the ceiling of the banquet hall, signifying that what was told at the feast was not to be repeated. From this custom originated the expression, sub rosa, the Detroit News recalls.

The rose is the queen of love and beauty and is the most eloquent of all in the language of the flowers. The red rose is a token of love and the white of purity. A moss rosebud is a confession of love, while a rose leaf means, "I am worthy of you." A white rose signifies, "You may hope." A white rose asks, "Are you jealous?"

The yellow buttercup is dedicated to the memories of childhood and to riches. The Greeks and Romans used one variety of buttercup as a remedy for leprosy. It was also said that the rose was a cure for insanity if it was gathered at the waning of the moon, wrapped in linen and carried around the neck of the afflicted person.

The Hygiene of Swimming.

It is as safe, but no safer, to go in swimming immediately after a hearty meal as it is to go for a walk at that time. But let's begin further back. It is unsafe to eat a hearty meal the day you are going swimming or for a walk. I am assuming that a hearty meal is the kind that gives you a sensation of fullness, even to the point of wishing to loosen your belt or clothing, or one which causes drowsiness. It is never safe to eat your meal like that.

Some hundreds of thousands of persons are in the water swimming at almost any hour of the day this time of year, and inevitably among so many one here and there is going to die unexpectedly. It is customary in every such case to assume that the victim had "cramps," whether in fact he suffered a stroke of paralysis by reason of his diseased arteries or became dizzy and helpless by reason of cold water entering through the perforation of his eardrum (which he should have prevented by wearing a bit of lamb's wool in the ear canal), or acute dilation of a diseased heart feature in the water.

"Cramps" do really occur in rare instances when a swimmer attempts a long swim in cold water or against buffeting waves, just as one's muscles will cramp and become powerless after prolonged exertion of any kind.

It is sometimes suspected that there may be danger of contracting typhoid fever by swimming in water known or believed to be polluted by drainage into it of diluted human sewage. Provided the swimmer does not deliberately drink of the water, it is questionable whether there is such danger. However, if that is all that stands between a joyful vacation and a fearful ailment, why, it is easy to dispel the risk by having the youngster immunized against typhoid infection by the prophylactic bacterin, which every physician is prepared to administer on request.

Girls and women need not hesitate to go in swimming as regularly as usual at the time of the menstrual function. Experience has amply demonstrated that there is no harm in this indulgence, though I am of the opinion that much harm is done by the coddling of the old-fashioned kind.

Man, woman or child may safely remain in the water as long as he or she enjoys it, and come out when the pleasure is spoiled by a feeling or sense of chilliness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A Poor Excuse.

I must confess to being one of those old-fashioned mothers who so strongly condemn. I have my daughter's full confidence in everything, yet I cannot discuss some matters with her. She knows how I feel, and acting on her earnest suggestion I am writing you. (Mrs. M. G. O.)

Answer—Repeat your request and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, or one addressed to your daughter, and I will send such information as I deem correct for girls to have. It seems to me that you take a wrong view of a sacred matter when you feel you cannot discuss it with your daughter.

Tender After Shaving.

My face is raw and tender after shaving. Can you suggest anything to relieve this? (M. K.)

Answer—Boric acid ..... ¼ ounce
Glycerin ..... ¼ ounce
Tragacanth shavings (not powder) ..... 70 grains
Water ..... 12 ounces
Boil together, constantly stirring, till all dissolved. Add water to make up for evaporation. When cool, add two ounces of any toilet water. Apply a little to face after shaving, and before the skin is quite dry after washing.

Flatulence.

How does flatulence affect the heart? (J. W. R.)

Answer—Flatulence is a state of discomfort associated with, but perhaps not caused by, excessive fermentation and gas formation in the alimentary tract or excessive swallowing of air. It does not affect the heart. However, in some cases of heart disease the patient labors under the misapprehension that his trouble comes from "gas." Likewise, in some fair, fat women of forty with gallstones, the periodic attacks occurring at irregular intervals are erroneously ascribed to "that gas," which, in turn, is attributed to some article of diet.

A JAPANESE GARDEN.

The typically Japanese garden of Mr. Inabata, a Kyoto millionaire, near Nagasaki temple is described by a correspondent. It is a 12-acre example of the Japanese talent for concealing art; it contains a twin waterfall not only artificial but even said to be exact miniature of some famous Japanese fall; but which looks as if it had like Topsy, "just grown," also a large artificial cave with walls of rough concrete which would hardly "give it away," but for the electric lights in the roof and the switches for turning on the "dripping well." The water is derived from the Biwa canal, which flows just outside. A minor curiosity is a stone lantern with a high peaked top formed by a tiger standing on its head; these now meaningless ishidoro are seen everywhere, but hardly ever is any such liberty taken with the conventional form.

NOT QUITE THE SAME.

Robert's father received this communique from his son absent in the halls of learning: "Dear Father: I am sorry to say that I was mistaken when I wrote last week that the professor had said that my abilities were mathematical. He said that they were problematical. Affectionately, Robert."—New York Evening Post.

Get Out Of Doors
By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington—Roughing it is rapidly becoming the accepted antidote for overindulgence of business, housekeeping, hot weather, worry—even running a government.

President Harding was the last notable recruit to camp life, though any one reading of his numerous do lux camp with its half hundred attendants, and its movie men catching Mr. Edison in the act of brushing a fly off his nose and the president reading a paper, must feel that Mr. Harding scarcely had a chance to get the real flavor of life without a necktie.

The everyday citizen is in this more fortunate. If he aspires to build a log cabin in the woods and fish, hunt, take pictures, tramp, study nature, or merely sit, he can enjoy these recreations undisturbed for as many weeks as he likes, at the price of a few days at any fashionable resort.

Back to the forest is now the annual slogan of over 5,000,000 people who have solved the problem of a restful, cheap vacation by using the national forests. There would probably be very little forest left to get back to by this time if the reckless cutting and burning of timber had not been restricted some twenty years ago, and a national forest system built up.

Since then, 147 forests, containing 156,000,000 acres of land, have been dedicated as playgrounds for the people.

In one way, the national forests are of necessity a one-sided proposition. Of the 147 forests, all but twenty are in the west. In the east which so much needs camping grounds there is left comparatively little forest land which could be set aside for the people.

But the back to the woods germ is too contagious and virulent to be checked by difficulties of distance. We are told that the Colorado forests, which are perhaps the most famous in the country, attract people from every state in the Union and from a number for foreign countries. The other national forests are rapidly becoming known as practical playgrounds, and automobiles, the wanderlust, good roads, nerves, and high prices are all contributing to the popularity of the public playgrounds everywhere.

The 5,000,000 people who have got the habit of using the national forests are only a beginning. Some of the western forests are so extensive and so comparatively unused by campers that a party may travel for days at a time through them without meeting any other vacationists.

The west is honeycombed with these vast forest stretches, with snowtopped mountains, lakes hidden among the pines, shady streams stocked with fish, and smooth roads and trails, all at the service of the people.

Eastern Forests

The east has its national forests too, in Florida, the Carolinas, Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia, Oklahoma, Maine, New Hampshire, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. These forests, set aside, most of them, long after the states were well built up, are limited in area, compared to the big western forests. The smallest of these eastern forests, for instance, Boone Forest in North Carolina, is only 1,000 acres, while the largest, the Arkansas Forest, is some 600,000 acres. In the west there are a number of national forests with 1,000,000 or more acres, and one, in New Mexico, with 2,500,000.

In all of the national forests except a few in the east any one who wishes to build a cabin or cottage may lease a camp site of from a quarter of an acre to 5 acres of ground for from ten to twenty-five dollars a year. Timber for the house may be bought where available, at cost price off the stump from the Forest Service, and the camper can cut it and build his own house or hire some one to do it for him. The land once leased may be released in succeeding years.

Not all the persons who patronize the national forests build quarters. Many prefer to pitch camp in tents, which requires no permit, or to motor from place to place.

Forest rangers have headquarters at intervals through the forests and at these headquarters, marked by the American flag, campers and travelers can obtain information, use a telephone, and get help in an emergency.

The different forests have their own special attractions. Pikes Peak is in the national forest of the same name. Olympic elk, once almost extinct but now protected and increasing, may be shot—with a camera—in the Olympic Forest in Washington state. Game trout abound in the streams of most of the forests. Deer, bear, elk, grouse, and other wild game may be found in the various forests and may be hunted under state game laws.

In the Sialatte River Forest in Washington the full-blood Indians of the Sialatte River tribe never fail to interest campers, while in the east, the White Mountains boast of their Lakes of the Clouds, 5,000 feet above the sea, and their waterfalls, and the famous Old Man of the Mountains cut by nature in the side of a cliff.

The West Gets the Crowds

Of them all, the forests in Colorado and California are the most popular as vacation retreats. A million people visit the Colorado forests, and 1,500,000 the California forests every year. In the east the White Mountain Forest is probably the best known.

The eastern forests have to be conducted along somewhat different lines from the more extensive western playgrounds. In three of them public camping grounds have been carefully surveyed and designated. No one may lease a lot in them because if monopolies were granted, a few people would quickly take up all the land. These three forests, the Pisgah in North Carolina, the Wichita Forest and Game Reserve in Oklahoma, and the White Mountain Forest in Maine and New Hampshire, are being used by picnic parties, for boy scout and mountaineers camps, and by campers, who are permitted to stop for several weeks without charge. Hotels and inns located at picturesque spots help to make the forests accessible for people who cannot conveniently pitch camp.

The Forest Service, with the help of all those who use the national forests, is protecting and managing them so that the American people can have woodland playgrounds for generations to come.

Four million dollars a year for the last three years have been appropriated by congress for roads through the national forests, and the states using the fund are required to put up an equal sum. Over 12,000,000 trout fry are put into the streams and lakes of Colorado alone every year. Rare animals and birds are protected against hunting. Timber nurseries are maintained by the Forest Service and millions of young trees—2,000,000 for Washington and Oregon alone—are set out in the forests every year to replace losses by fire and trees cut for timber.

Red tape is eliminated as much as possible in issuing leases and permits. In return, all that is asked of the camper or tourist is that he be careful with his camp fires, put out or report any fire that he may find, and leave his camp ground clean and neat with all trash and refuse burned or buried.

A. The War Department says that officers who have Sam Browne Belts of any type approved during the war may wear them if serviceable. The Liberty Belt is the authorized form of Sam Browne Belt.

Q. When are hotbeds and cold frames used? K. K. C.

A. A bed heated from the bottom by means of pines, flues or fermenting organic matter is used for seed germination and plant growing. An unheated frame is used to carry heavy plants over winter for planting the next spring, or when only slight protection is needed.

Hoboes Going South As Cold Weather Nears

Thinly clad "knights of the road" are now rustling their way toward the sunny south in anticipation of an early winter, according to Frank Murphy, crossing flagman. The last few cool days have sent a surprising number of men southward, Mr. Murphy said. He has noticed that many of them are poorly dressed and hungry as well. It is believed that the unemployment situation is sending many men south to escape the northern winter which they would otherwise be compelled to face without the necessities of life.

WOOD'S TRIPLE DEFEATS KIMBERLY IN TENTH INNING

First Baseman's Healthy Swat Gives Brandts 2 To 1 Victory After Tight Game

Schultz Has Edge on Shimmers in Pitchers' Battle—Mudloff and Sylvester Wallop Ball Over Right Field Fence.

UNDAY'S hero, Emmett Wood, The home first baseman broke up Sunday's baseball game with Kimberly in the tenth inning when he busted the ball for three bases. The only base drive in his baseless career—and scored a minute later on Spies' bunt with the winning run after Sylvester and Mudloff had tied the count at one each with home run clouds over the right field fence. There never was a more surprised or more happy gang of baseball rooters in Appleton than when Wood sent the ball into deep center field for the hit which broke up a pitcher's battle between Hank Schultz and Jack Shimmers. Wood had struck out the first two times up and lined a long fly to center on the third attempt. Fairs begged him for a hit when he came up the last time and he obliged with the long drive.

Schultz failed to send him home when he grounded out to T. Lamers at shortstop but Spies ended the game by rolling the ball along the first base line. Wood crossed the pan with the winning run before Spies reached first.

Schultz had quite an edge on Shimmers in the pitching duel, holding the Kimberly crew to seven hits three of which were garnered by M. Lamers. The Kimberly total included a home run by Sylvester and two base drives by Shimmers and Lamers. Schultz was seldom in danger, however.

Eight hits were grabbed off Shimmers including a home run, a triple and three doubles. He pitched well in the game, however, and only three Brandts got as far as third base including the two who scored. Both pitchers were given excellent support; each team made one error but they did not count in the scoring.

Sylvester got as far as second base in the first inning when Schultz and Spies booted his hard hit grounder. He failed to get any further. Mudloff got his first hit in the initial frame, a two base drive to left, but he died on the paths when Shott grounded out.

Both teams were helpless in the second and third innings but Kimberly got started in the fourth when Sylvester homered and Marty Lamers singled. The one base drive, however, was wasted when Schultz tightened up and sent three batsmen down in order.

Priebe doubled in the home half of the fourth after two were out but he was stranded. The same thing happened to Shimmers in Kimberly half of the fifth. His two base hit was a roller over third base which went out wide the foul line and rolled nearly to the fence.

Poor coaching prevented the Brandts from scoring in the fifth. Murphy started with a hit to the left field fence which he stretched into a double by dint of considerable exertion. He watched Wood fan and Schultz fly out to Shimmers without moving from the sack but legged it for third when Spies singled to left. He had plenty of time to score on the blow but was held on the last corner where he died when Beyer rolled out.

Two Hits in Sixth Things looked rather squally for the Brandts in the sixth. After Sylvester had rolled out Marty Lamers singled and went to second on Ted Lamers' high bouncer to Spies. The ball bounded so high that Lamers reached the bag before it could be fielded. Then fired in the emergency by striking out and then Lou forced Ted at second for the third out.

Mudloff evened the count in the home half of the sixth inning by slugging the ball over the right field fence. Shott followed with a single but was forced on second on Duran's drive to T. Lamers but the batter got a life on first when Ted threw low to Sylvester and the ball went into the crowd. Murphy fled to Marty Lamers for the third out.

The hostiles again threatened in the eighth when Marty Lamers belted his third hit—a double. He stopped there, however, when Ted Lamers whiffed. Cavell scratched a dinky hit through the pitching box in the tenth after two were out but was caught trying to steal second while Sylvester was at bat.

Shimmers held the home crew safe until the tenth when Wood broke up the battle with his triple.

KAUKAUNA TAKES SLOW GAME FROM SLIPPING EDISONS

Dobratz and Karst Fail to Stop Electric City Squad and Lose, 9 to 7.

KAUKAUNA won her fourth game of the season Sunday afternoon at Kaukauna ball park by defeating New London by a score of 9 to 7 in a game about as slow and devoid of pep as any yet played at Kaukauna. War on a pitcher New London went down easily before the flock of hits by the Electric City batters, although the Edison's fought hard until the last frame and once succeeded in tying the score.

Dobratz was knocked out of the box in the fourth frame when he allowed seven hits, two of which were homers. Krueger, Stegeman and Jensen batted twice in that inning. Krueger and Stegeman each getting two hits. Karst took the rubber in the fifth inning and pitched well for the rest of the game. His control was not up to the mark but he kept the hits scattered and allowed only two runs.

Battling averages went up with a bound Bixby. Kaukauna right fielder knocked four hits. Krueger, second baseman, clouted a homer, a double and a single. The double came in the second frame the ball sneaking over to the right field fence. An edging sign nailed to the fence and projecting about six inches prevented a home run.

Kueen, of the Edison's, laced out three doubles, and Roman, catcher hit twice.

Schmidt pitched a poor game for Kaukauna and it was only New London's lack of an efficient battery that lost the game. "Smoker" fanned eight batters walked one and hit three opponents. Dobratz struck out two men and Karst sent one to the bench.

New London attempted a spurt early in the game, Kueen nailing the ball for two bases in the first round. Schmidt hit another batter and then pitched the edge out. Kaukauna also made a fine start when Bixby, the first man up, knocked out a clean single. Following batters were unable to relax him around and he died on the paths.

In the third inning two doubles and a single resulted in two runs for the visiting team. Kaukauna scored once in her half of the frame when Bixby singled and Thompson sacrificed him to second. A hit by Mace sent Bixby around.

The real fun began in the fourth frame when Krueger began with a four base clout. The men batted around once before two men were retired. Stegeman and Krueger came up for their second hits that inning and Jensen finished the slaughter when he fanned. Two errors helped Kaukauna score those six runs.

In the sixth, New London rallied and knocked "Smoker" for five hits. The Edison's scored five times, two runs being tallied when Servatius hit for three bases. With the score tied, Kaukauna made another effort and managed to score once in the sixth and again in the seventh. The visitors kept things interesting and came close to scoring, but excellent support saved the game.

Sacrificed Finger To Fight Champ

By Low Tendler
Lightweight Contender

Delanco, N. J.—I have staked all on my match with Benny Leonard August 12 at the Philly ball park. It's the fight I've been waiting on for two years.

To be able to hit my best, I had my hand operated on. The first joint of my third finger on my southpaw hand has been cut off.

The man who takes Leonard's crown away from him will have to knock him out for the champion is a master boxer.

I was not matched with Leonard at the time I had the operation done. But I was thinking of him. We have been rivals so long that something like personal bitterness has sprung up between us.

My finger was set positive after being broken several years ago. I couldn't close my hand tightly. I fractured it every time I fought.

My manager Phil Glassman, asked me to have the operation done. He hated to ask such a thing of me for we are more to each other than just fighter and manager. We're pals. I knew it was for the best. It's all in the game.

I guess you can close your hand tightly, you can't hit your best. I want to be set to knock Leonard out.

There was a splintered bone in my right hand. I had it removed, too. These operations make the third time I've been under a surgeon's knife in the last two years.

In 1919 I had small bones taken out of my nose to make my breathing perfect. Several months after that I had an abdominal operation.

My friends said I would never be strong again. But they were wrong. It took me some time to hit my old stride. But I'm my old self again. Following the operations I became heavier and stronger. This was proven by my string of knockouts early in 1920.

Body Walloper. Leonard isn't knockout proof. No one else has never met a body puncher. That's my style of attack. A fighter can steel his jaw to take a wallop but not the vital spots of the body. Dempsey proved this against me.

Low Tendler and His Hand

His opponents Tommy Gibbons is demonstrating what a body puncher can do. Bryan Downey hit Johnny Wilson below the heart before he floored him with a lick to the chin.

OSHKOSH POUNDS HEATH HARD AND WHIPS MENASHA

Eighth Inning Rally Nets Four Runs for Valley League Leaders.

Menasha—The Oshkosh baseball team defeated Menasha here Sunday afternoon by the score of 6 to 2. Menasha started things in the first inning when the first man up, Weissgerber, hit clean but Menasha failed to do anything further and he died on base. Oshkosh started things in the second inning and the error of Hoffman cost Menasha the first run. Menasha tied the score in the third, getting several hits in succession off Stevenson, but was unable to score more than one run due mainly to the wonderful fielding of Lambrecht. Oshkosh centerfielder who spoiled what seemed like a beautiful hit by a pretty catch. Lambrecht played a wonderful game for Oshkosh spoiling several apparently good hits. Oshkosh scored one more in the fourth. Up to this time Menasha had been getting most of the hits, but almost always at the wrong time with one or two men out. After this Stevenson, who Menasha had been hitting pretty well, tightened up and the game went on without another score until the eighth when the Oshkosh sluggers started to find Heath and hit him with ease. In that inning Heath deliberately walked Keyawa, hard hitting Oshkosh catcher who had already garnered three hits and who his next time up drove the ball out for a home run. Oshkosh scored four in the eighth before the side was retired. Menasha did not give up, however till the last man was out, for with two out and one on base Rens drove out a hit to deep center and brought in another run. Weissgerber, who was up next, struck out and the game was over. Stevenson, who tightened up after the first inning when he had seemed to have lost himself, pitched a good game after that. Heath did not pitch in his usual form, his fielding support was far from the usual standard and several in field errors also cost Menasha dearly. The largest crowd of the season witnessed the game.

Pierre Ryan, 26 years old, was struck on the head with the same weapon and is in a local hospital not expected to live. County officers are hunting for Joseph Hoge who is alleged to have committed the assault, and Paul Peopke, 24 years old, his son-in-law, is in county jail being held as an accomplice.

Hoge, it is said, has taken to the woods, carrying with him a large quantity of ammunition for two large caliber revolvers and a sawed off shotgun.

Ran Up With Axe.
While Jack Ryan and Paul Peopke were fighting on the Pierre Ryan farm in the town of Texas, 12 miles north of Wausau, it is said that Hoge secured an axe and struck Ryan, who was getting the better of the fight, on the head, inflicting a wound which caused his death.

Pierre Ryan started to interfere but was struck by Hoge, and when he turned to run became entangled in a wire fence. Hoge, it is alleged, struck him on the head and shoulder with the axe, inflicting what are expected to prove fatal wounds. Sheriff Fred Schroeder and Undersheriff Art Swert went out and found them lying on the ground in a lane near the home. Both men were unconscious.

AUTO DRIVER HELD AFTER COLLISION

Special to the Post-Crescent.
Kenosha, Wis.—Tom Bergino of Waukegan is being held in the county jail here without bond, as the result of a collision of two high powered automobiles on the Chicago road, two miles south of Kenosha. Saturday night, in which four persons were injured.

Sheriff William Rauert said Sunday night that if Mrs. Margaret Martini

Dance at Mader's Hall, Tuesday, Aug. 9, 1½ miles East of Darboy. Music by the Imperial Orchestra of Menasha. Admission 75c.

of Waukegan, who is at the point of death in the Kenosha hospital, should die, he would place a charge of manslaughter against Bergino. In that event, Bergino would also be an important figure in the investigation of a coroner's jury.

Mrs. Martini, who, with her three small children, was a passenger in Bergino's car at the time of the accident, had not regained consciousness Sunday night. It was announced at the hospital. She suffered a fracture of the skull and possible internal injuries. The accident occurred, according to the Kenosha authorities, when Bergino and Isadore Jascutia of Chicago, driver of the other car, kept in the center of the highway and failed to turn out to enable a passing.

Both drivers were detained at the county jail for questioning Saturday morning.

THE STAGE

Harvey, the Circus Man
Harvey's Greater Minstrels was organized and is owned by R. M. Harvey, a well-known circus man, who, for years has been spending money like water in the circus business. The expense of building an amusement enterprise does not disturb him, because as manager of one of the greatest circus enterprises on the road he learned it is only by the lavish expenditure of money that success can be attained.

They will be at Appleton theatre Wednesday, Aug. 19.

Babe Ruth Coming

"Babe" Ruth, the idol of every American sportsman, comes to the Majestic theatre Tuesday and Wednesday in the sensational six-part super feature, "Headin' Home," and brings a record of having shattered all attendance figures at the spacious Madison Square Garden in New York City.

"Babe" Ruth as a motion picture star is indeed a treat for film and baseball fans. America's greatest of all time hitter, for as months been virtually monopolizing the columns of the sporting pages of newspapers with his extraordinary hitting, but coming here as the featured member of a photodrama that has been received by the most fastidious of critics as the "second sensational triumph" of "Babe" Ruth in on-screen is indeed a rare opportunity for our inhabitants to see the most talked-of American today kill two birds with one stone. "Headin' Home" is minus the impossibilities and exaggerations that have marred other series pictures in which stars of the sporting world have been featured.

Bicycle on Sidewalk
Raymond VanOyen, son of Irving Van Oyen, 541 Second, narrowly escaped injury Saturday when an unidentified bicycle rider using the sidewalk in violation of the law ran into the little boy's velocipede. The child was thrown but was unhurt. The rider kept on going. Mr. VanOyen has asked the police to apprehend the cyclist.

Dance at Giesen's, Stephentown, Wed., Aug. 16. Park your car two blocks east of pavilion at M. Schmidt's grounds. 35c. adv.

DENY LOWER ELECTRIC RATES FOR CHILTON FOLKS

Special to Post-Crescent

Madison.—The Railroad Commission has dismissed the application of the city of Chilton to have the electric rates of the Calumet Service Company reduced. The Commission increased the rates last fall when the company was receiving its power from the High Falls power plant. Later the energy was secured from the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power company at Appleton at a lower rate and the city applied to the commission to reduce the rates. It was found that the recent order of the commission permitting the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power company to increase its rates 20 per cent meant the company would not earn more than the legal rate.

Both drivers were detained at the county jail for questioning Saturday morning.

They will be at Appleton theatre Wednesday, Aug. 19.

SOME IMPROVEMENT IN CROP CONDITIONS

Special to Post-Crescent

Madison.—Growing crops show somewhat further improvement over a week ago, reports the crop reporting service at Madison. This is due to showers and more moderate temperature. It must be remembered, however, that with the exception of corn, growing crops were in desperate conditions two weeks ago, and that small grains and hay were already harvested at that time.

Farm work is over two weeks in advance. Some plowing for fall has been done. Corn is filling well, except in a few counties. Early potatoes are practically a failure. Late potatoes are reviving in northern counties, and elsewhere yield will be very light. Leafhoppers and tobacco worms are causing a considerable damage, and blight is appearing in some places.

Buckwheat is in blossom and beginning to mature. Yields of spring grain are very light, and of winter grain below average. Second crop of alfalfa has been cut with fair yield. Much second crop clover has been pastured. Pastures, although reviving are still scant.

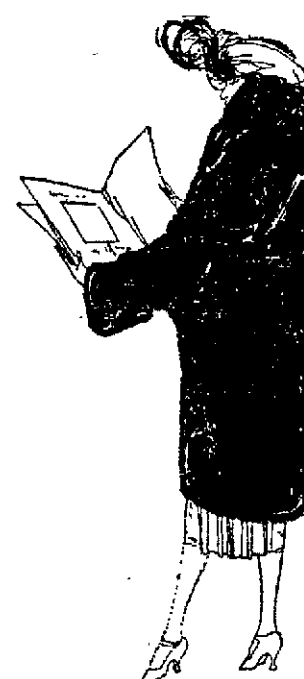

Tobacco is improving except where worms are bad. Topping is general in Dane county and beginning in Vernon county. Cabbage and onion crops will be short. Cucumbers in commercial areas are badly in need of rain. New seeding of hay is helped by rain but still in poor condition. Livestock is in poor to fair condition.

Is Your Home In The Age of Coaches and Candlesticks?

NOT that anyone burns candles nowadays—except for artistic effects; nor that journeys are still made in careening coaches, — except in movie films. Nevertheless there is many a housewife who rides in an automobile and who reads by a Tungsten lamp, who is living in the Age of "Coaches and Candlesticks" in her methods of housekeeping.

She, or her maid, spends a damp untidy Monday washing her clothes on a WASHBOARD. She painstakingly irons everything by HAND. When she cleans, she uses a BROOM, and dishes are washed in a DISHPAN.

And all the while, there is electricity just at her elbow, willing and anxious to assume these strenuous housekeeping tasks, and to draw her out of the candlestick age into an era of modern, unfurled housekeeping.

Pettibone's Housefurnishing Department is constantly showing the newest and best of electrical servants for the Home of 1924.

HOOVER Suction sweepers combine the three important cleaning principals in one operation—a Hoover beats as it sweeps — as it cleans. Without exertion on the part of the housewife, the most stubborn litter is easily swept and the carpet cleaned.

SIMPLEX ironers are known the world over. With ironings that would require hours or perhaps an entire day in the old way — the Simplex does the same thing—perhaps a little better, in forty-five minutes. No lifting of heavy irons with the SIMPLEX.

EVERY modern housekeeper knows the superiority of the EASY washing machine on Monday morning. By a constant suction the clothes are washed without injury to the finest fabrics and after the work is done—the EASY is cleaned in a moment.

DISHWASHING is the bane of every woman's life—yet with a Walker Electric Dishwasher, the dirty china of a whole day can be washed in ten minutes. Not only WASHED but STERILIZED and the dishes dry themselves. Put the glass and silver in too.
